

Writing a child protection policy

A written policy makes it clear that your company will not tolerate child abuse and exploitation. It includes clear processes to prevent and respond to abuse. It should be simple, practical and achievable.

Most importantly, your policy should not just be words on paper – but a set of guidelines which are actively followed by all managers and staff.

Golden Beach Guest House

Child Protection Policy

The Golden Beach Guest House believes all children should be safe from harm. We will not tolerate abuse. Instead, we will protect children through all of our business practices.

- We will provide training for all staff so they are empowered to act if they see a situation where children face abuse or exploitation.
- We expect and encourage all staff to report any child protection concerns to management.
- The management is committed to follow-up all reports and refer information about child exploitation to the relevant authorities.
- We will actively display the child protection campaign in our business so our customers know our position.
- We will find ways to positively support local children in our community, including raising general issues about child vulnerability to local authorities and community associations.

To learn more, visit www.childsafetourism.org

